

Help your employees protect their families

It's hard to ignore the importance of life insurance. Most employees want it and many depend on their employer to provide it.<sup>1</sup> With UnitedHealthcare life insurance, you can help give your employees the protection they seek with options to fit any budget. Plus, the plan includes many resources and personal support services at no extra cost.

Family security starts with Basic Life

Basic Life is a term life policy that gives your employees a base amount of coverage, which pays a lump-sum cash benefit directly to the employees' beneficiaries in the event of their death. It's common for employers to help pay for Basic Life and give employees the option to pay for additional coverage. If savings is a priority, consider offering a voluntary plan.
